Reflections. Of Newport News

A high school is more than just a hard, cold physical edifice of brick walls and concrete, of wooden doors, and of grand doric columns. A high school is a reflection of things as mundane as "What's for lunch?" or as spiritual as a student's first reading of Sonnets from the Portuguese, of things as banal as "Study hard for your test Tuesday!" or as extraordinary as the track team's capturing both the indoor and outdoor state track titles. Above all else, a high school is a reflection of the people, faculty and students, who attend it — and of their dreams and realities, their aspirations and their deeds, their efforts and their accomplishments. The following pages are but an attempt to capture the fleeting yet permanent, ephemeral yet enduring reflection of Newport News High School, 1967-68.

Mrs. Wright Given Anchor Dedication

"Do you know what she's making us do? Some stupid paper on Hamlet. And how about that idiotic grammar test? She's generally impossible!"

"Yeah, but she's a good teacher!"

The highest compliment a teacher can receive is the grudging, grumbling recognition by her students that she is a good teacher in spite of and because of her assignments of "idiotic" grammar tests and being "generally impossible."

It is this very special type of teacher whose dedication is unwavering, whose zeal for teaching is unquenchable and whose love of students, all students, is boundless that rates the simple yet impressive tribute — "Yeah, but she's a good teacher."

It is with the greatest pleasure that the 1967-68 Anchor staff dedicates this edition to an individual who has in every way displayed the attributes of "a good teacher," whose devotion, interest, and concern will be appreciated and remembered always by the students of Newport News High School. The Anchor staff takes pride in dedicating the 1968 Anchor to Mrs. Jeanette Wright.

Right: "Acme is to nadir as mellifluous is to . . . ?" asks Mrs. Wright as she prods David Wilson into finding the correct word to complete the analogy. Building Word Power and analogies were quite familiar to all of Mrs. Wright's students.

Below: Mrs. Wright smiles approvingly as she surveys one of the college freshman reading lists she distributes to her senior English classes.

Below: Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Wright discuss proposed purchases of teaching materials for the English Department.

Reflections On School Life

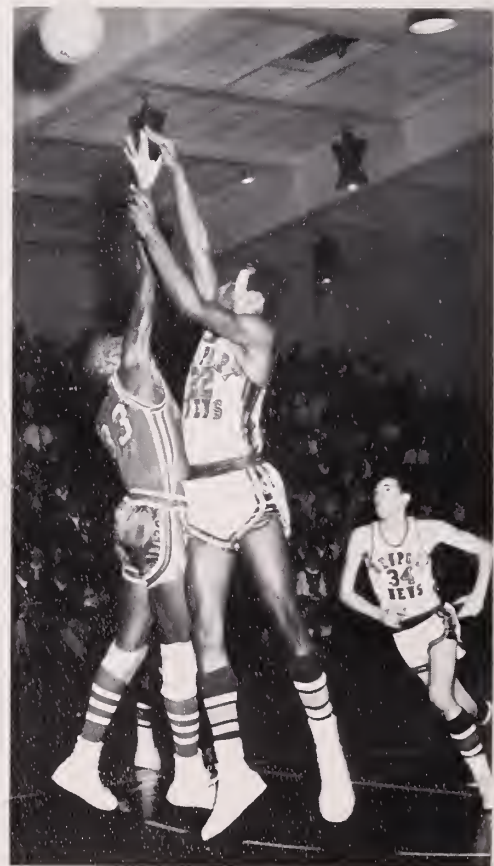

Announcements every morning in homeroom... pep assemblies... concerts... report cards... dances... homework every night...

All of these are rather commonplace, every day occurrences in the lives of most students at N.N.H.S. Yet in their own special way, each of these rather ordinary events serve to mirror some major aspect of school life—the academic, the extracurricular, the athletic or the social. Alone, each reflects the vast opportunities and broad scope of interests open to the student. Together, they reflect the rich diversity and coursing vibrancy of school life at Newport News High.

School Life Reflects Variety Of Interests

Ebb And Flow Of Ideas Is Stimulating

A girl and a boy just talking about "things", thirteen hundred students screaming themselves hoarse at the Hampton game, a girl studying intensely in a deserted classroom for a test next period, a basketball player fighting for the ball—each and all of these scenes serve as reflections of the variety and divergence of interests that make up school life at Newport News High School. It is the ebb and flow of ideas between faculty and students, the exciting and stimulating quest that is learning that serves as the foundation for school life. In the classroom, on the playing field, or after school— wherever there are students from N.N.H.S., the intensity of their enthusiasm, the vibrancy of their interests and the quality of their talents mirrors the diversity of action that is school life.

Honors Reflect Ability Of Students

The phrase "We're champions" definitely had a familiar ring at N.N.H.S. this year with Newport News students taking honors in all three A's—athletics, academics and activities.

In the field of athletics, the Typhoon indoor track team again won the state title, the seventh championship in nine years.

Academically, on the new television program, Hi-Q, a team from Newport News scored three consecutive wins and retired as an undefeated champion. Other academic accomplishments included the awarding of National Merit Letters of Commendation to two students, as well as the attaining of Nelms Honor Scroll by several students.

Concerning activities, seven students from N.N.H.S. were named to the Virginia All-State Chorus. In athletics, in academics, and in activities, the accomplishments of students at Newport News High School serve as reflections of the hard work and ability that has made N.N.H.S. a champion.

Calm Replaces Commotion In

The cafeteria serves as the center for testing programs.

Eating, chatting, and attempting to study are pastimes each morning between 8-8:30 in the cafeteria.

Cafeteria

The Public Address system reports to homerooms each morning such typical announcements as, "The committee meeting will be held this afternoon in the cafeteria . . . the junior class will report to the cafeteria after homeroom for testing . . ." As the focal point of all school life, the cafeteria serves many purposes. It is the center of both academic and social activities. School dances, the Senior Prom, committee meetings, and gab sessions take place here, as well as testing programs, P.T.A. meetings, teachers' meetings, Science Fairs, teas, socials, and banquets. And, of course, where else would we eat our lunch?

Yet, after all the busy moments of a regular school day, comes a brief interlude between dark and dawn, when the cafeteria is void of activity. A quiescent mood prevails—the silence eloquently expresses the calm before a storm.

Lucado Is Crowned Homecoming Queen

"I think she'll get it for sure!" "Well, I don't think so . . ." was a very familiar conversation at N.N.H.S. in the days preceding November 10th, and it was just one reflection of the interest and pride students at Newport News have for one of its oldest traditions—Homecoming.

Kicking off the festivities was the Homecoming Parade, held Thursday, November 9th. The next night, prior to the game, a reception was held for returning alumni from seven to eight o'clock in the cafeteria.

At half-time, Gail Lucado was crowned Homecoming Queen for 1967. She was escorted by Jay Lane. Her Senior attendants were Janice Payne, escorted by Garland Rigney, and Roberta Shields, escorted by Robert Raper. Representing the Junior class on the court this year was Nancy Webb, escorted by Gerry Mingee. Sophomore class representative Susan Mallory was escorted by John DiGiacomo.

Ada Roach, escorted by Mike Forbes, represented the ninth grade and Beverly Ham, escorted by Ronnie Kirby, represented the eighth grade.

Vicki Batts, Kay Johnson and last year's Band Sweetheart, Carol Parrish, entered the giant heart formed by the band.

Kay was escorted by assistant-principal, Mr. John Kilpatrick; Vicki's escort was principal, Mr. John Caywood. Miss Parrish was accompanied by Drum Major, Larry Bridgers.

After the announcement of her victory, Vicki received a bouquet of red roses from Miss Parrish. Kay received a bouquet of yellow roses. Vicki danced the traditional waltz to the tune of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Tension Over Exams Causes Students To

"That time" arrived again—you had six exams in three days and you left everything to the last minute. Countless Newport News students endured a strange metamorphosis when faced with this seemingly hopeless situation. Cramming for exams fell upon the shoulders of everyone.

The pattern is always the same. Exams are only a few days away. You change from a carefree swinger to a worried student who is flunking out. Your stomach tightens as the thought that these exams are the turning point; they determine whether you will graduate or not. You don't dare enter the cafeteria because you know you will talk to your friends instead of studying. You can't concentrate in the library because it's too quiet. So, you end up studying in odd places like the clinic or on the counter of an empty classroom.

And like many times before, you cursed yourself and said you'd never let this last minute cramming happen again—but you knew you would—you always do.

Exams mean classroom studying, too, as Linda Jordan demonstrates.

Reflections On Faculty

Grading papers... evaluating and discussing ideas and events... attending faculty and departmental meetings... sponsoring clubs and activities... assigning homework... listening to problems... planning classwork... attending P.T.A.... making out tests... averaging grades... disciplining students... worrying over individual students... thrilling to student accomplishment... encouraging a student to try again... rejoicing over attainments...

These are but a few small reflections of the daily routine of most faculty members. Charged with the awesome responsibility of attempting to educate and civilize thirteen hundred different and unique individuals, the faculty members mirror their dedication to the teaching profession through the enthusiasm and zeal they bring to the classroom and the interest and understanding they extend to the students of Newport News High School.

Relaxing for a few moments in the cafeteria over coffee, a few members of the faculty enjoy some lively conversation concerning presidential possibilities.

Two New Principals Take Over Helm

Students at Newport News High School were greeted in the fall by a new principal, Mr. John M. Caywood, and by a new assistant principal, Mr. John W. Kilpatrick. Coming to us from the State Department of Education, Mr. Caywood is a veteran administrator. He served for seven years as an administrator at Battle Hill High School. Transferring to Warwick High School as principal, he served there for two years before moving up to Richmond.

Mr. Kilpatrick did graduate work in the School of Administration at the College of William and Mary. He acted as assistant principal at West Point for one year, then became principal of King William High School.

Miss Margaret Lane, assistant principal for her fourth year, acted as ballast for our ship of state as our new men principals became orientated. These three charted a clear course and gave us direction and stability.

Below: Mr. Caywood enjoys a jovial mood as he sits at his desk. Although he faces stacks of correspondence to be answered, requests to be certified, problems to be settled, he never seems to let these upset his even temperament.

Right: Miss Lane pauses at her desk to give a friendly hello to the photographer. She can be seen sitting here daily, in conference with students, teachers, or parents, as problems are brought for solution.

Below: Mr. Kilpatrick has a quiet manner but a great sense of humor, as is evident by his winsome smile. Here he is putting his signature to some correspondence on graduates.

Reflections On Academics

"Vicera are the soft parts of the body, such as the heart, liver, or intestines"... "Most cities use either the grid or radiating spokes layout"... " X^2 is a monomial of degree greater than one"... "A pronoun must agree with its antecedent."

These separate, unrelated facts are but a mere trickle compared to the vast flood of knowledge that deluges the student every day. They mirror the broad expanses of knowledge taught within the narrow confines of the classroom. They reflect the countless opportunities which academics offer to the student, not only for an increased awareness of the society in which he exists, but also the chance to find some measure of self-fulfillment and understanding.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

First we were introduced to new science courses. Then came Modern Math. Now it's "New English." Students of 8th, 9th, and 10th grade English were bewildered as they encountered graphemes, phonemes, morphemes, and other new terms. The new study is aimed at helping students to express themselves in a variety of ways—without the use of misplaced modifiers, jumbled jargon, overused clichés, mixed metaphors, and such. It was a traumatic experience, this plunge into new grammar. However, new anthologies for almost all courses balanced out the growing pains with grammar.

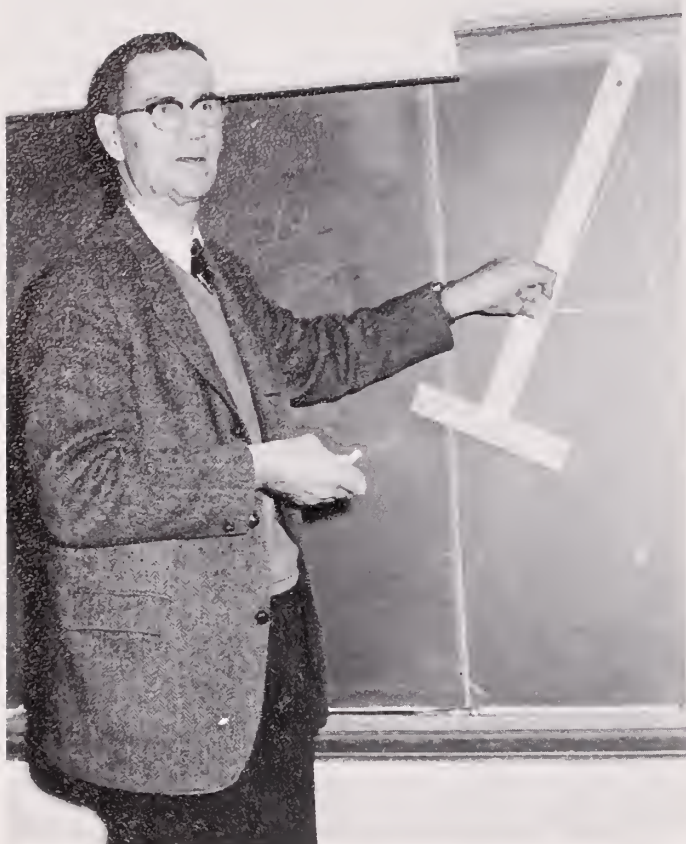

Our former principal, Mr. J. W. Etheridge, became the new city-wide English Coordinator. He promoted Molière's A School for Wives in December. Four bus loads of our students journeyed to Warwick for this delightful comedy.

Added to the department this year were Mrs. Emily Wallace, 8th and 9th grade English teacher, and Mr. Bentley Anderson, Drama Coach.

Right: Mrs. Jeanette Wright discusses the various psychological aspects of interconflict and tragedy in Hamlet.
Below: Mrs. Claudia Sturm points out some basic sentence patterns employed in English Composition.

Trigonometry And Advanced Algebra

"Bloodshot eyes, perspiration, and pounding headaches" are symptoms of "Mathaliscilliacelminitis" which has become a common everyday occurrence to the students who spend long hard hours working in math class.

To alleviate some of this pain, several new overhead projectors have been added this year to aid the teachers as well as the students.

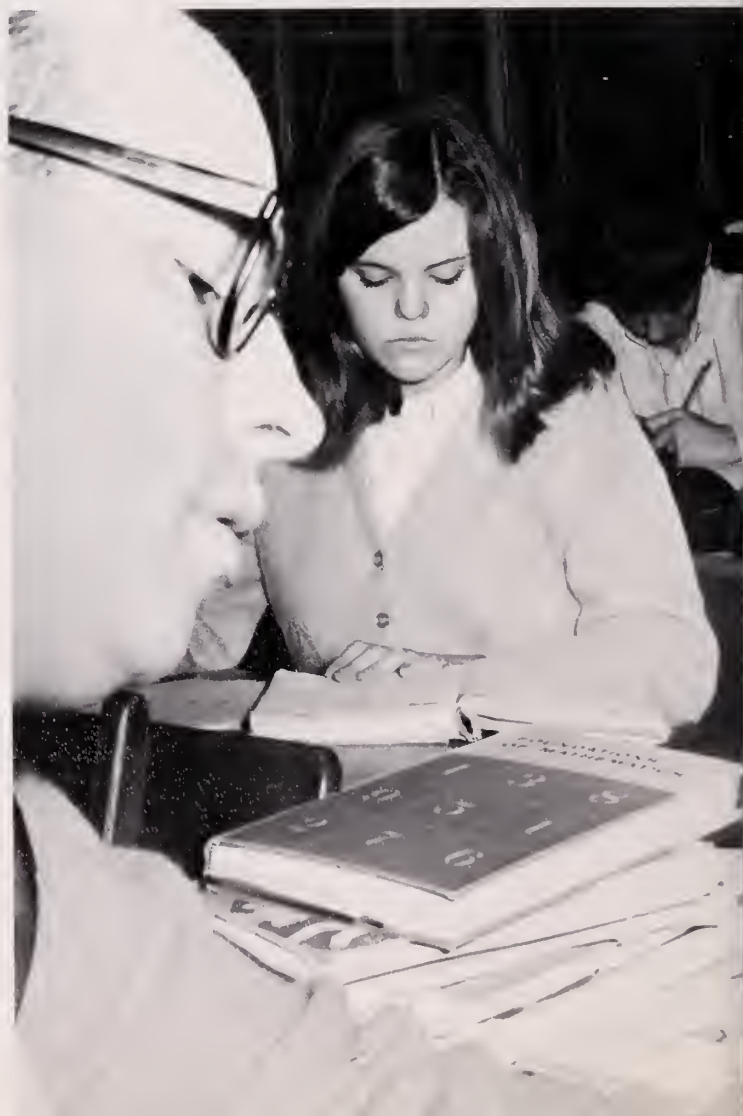

This year two new courses were offered by the Mathematics Department. The first of these courses was Trigonometry, taught by Miss Jane Hunsucker; last year it came under Senior Math Analysis. In this course, sets, trigonometric ratios, and other mathematical principles were explored on the college level.

A second course was an Advanced Algebra class taught by Mrs. Margaret Minnick in which students who took algebra in the eighth grade scratched below the surface of numbers, unknowns, and graphs.

New to the Mathematics Department this year were Mrs. Betty Scott and Mrs. Joycelyn Archer.

Advanced Science

"Oh no! I accidentally cut his liver! the patient, a decrepit frog faded with years of preservation in formaldehyde, underwent an unsuccessful operation—a vertical dissection of his body. Dissection is a memorable part of the biology course, and amateur surgeons learned to profit from mistakes such as these. Other facets, such as microbiology and the study of multicellular organisms, were taught.

The smell of rotten eggs (alias hydrogen sulfide) is an unpleasant recollection of every first year chemistry student. However, such experimentation affords personal observations of the nature of elements, compounds, and mixtures. This year's advanced science course dealt solely with chemistry.

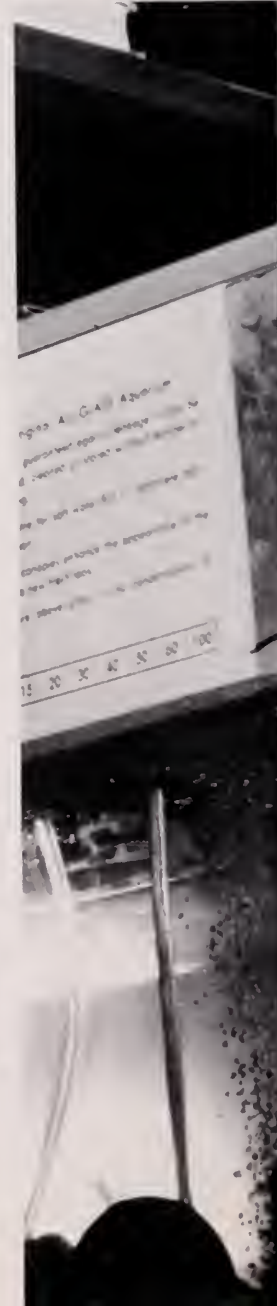

Offered in the science curriculum also was physics, an advanced study in matter and energy. Earth-Space science which deals with the physical features of the world was also taught.

This year the Science Department received a new aquarium, charts, chemicals, and a stereomicroscope. Mr. Bernard Jordan joined the Science Department as a new educator.

Government Class Goes To Corporation Court

A stunned silence filled the courtroom as the lawyer rose to cross-examine the witness.

"Where were you on February 10th at the time of the murder?" The students of Mr. Wheary's third period government class witnessed a trial that familiarized them with regular courtroom procedure. Such field trips supplemented classroom discussions and aided the student in his understanding of governmental functions. This twelfth grade course stressed the underlying principles of federal, state, and local governments.

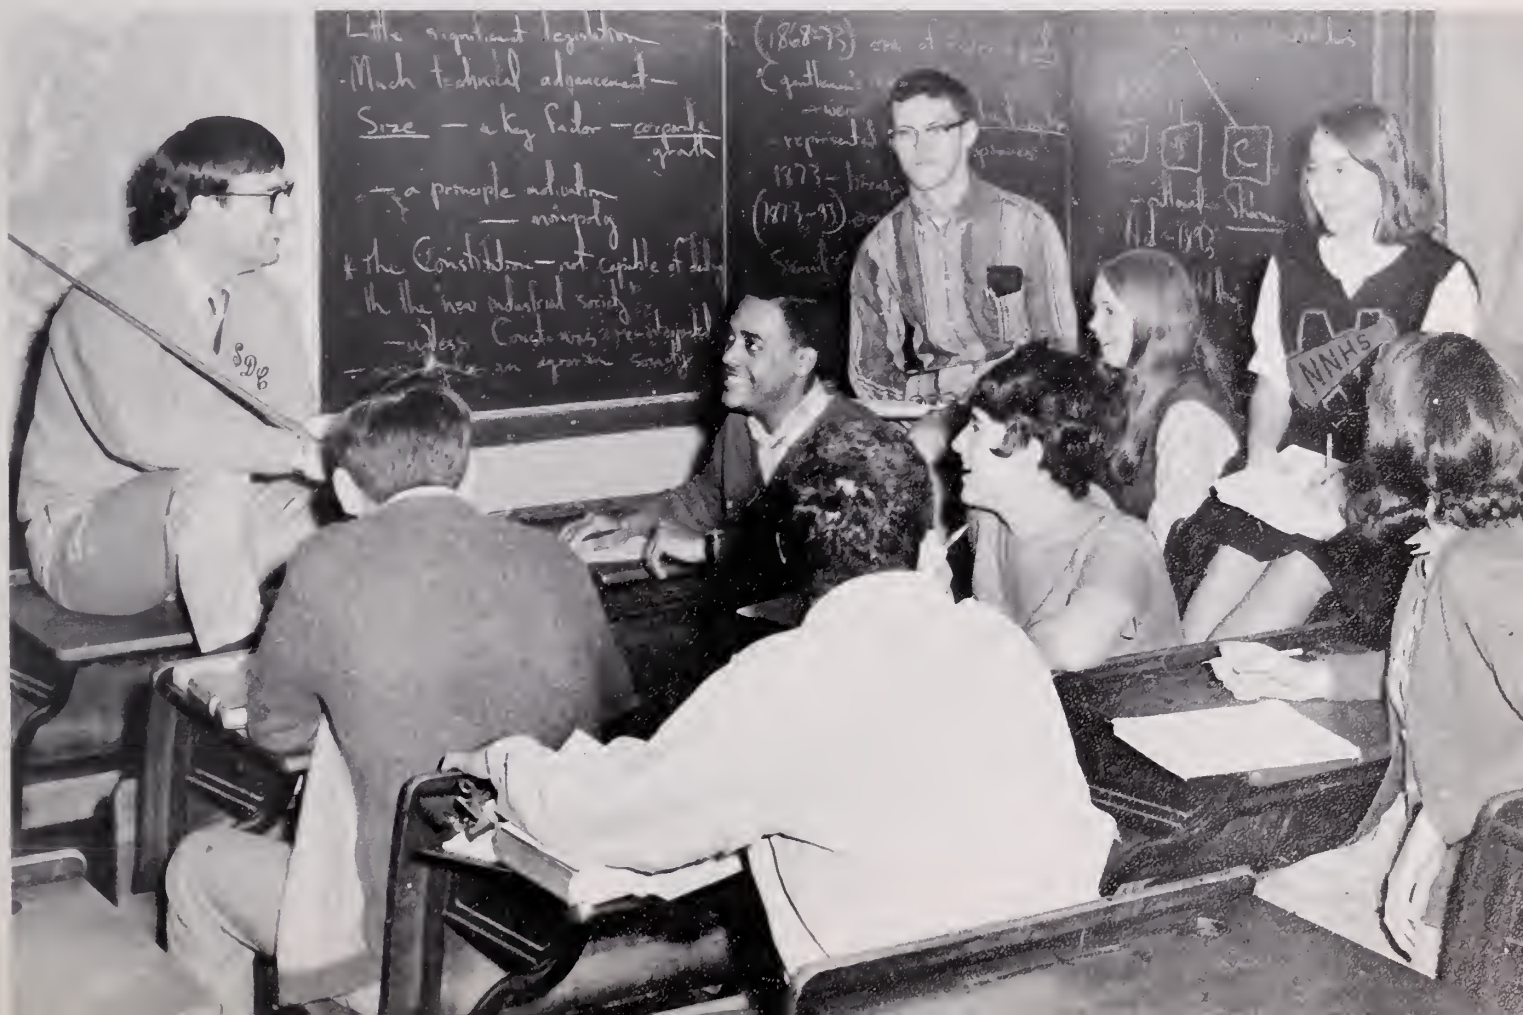

U. S. History, an eleventh grade subject, dealt primarily with the growth and development of our country, while the World History course discussed the development of civilizations in countries throughout the world. Studies in World Geography familiarized students with the locations of major countries, cities, and bodies of water. The eighth grade history course was a general introduction to our American heritage.

Mrs. Joan Anderson, Mr. Stephen Cabaniss, Mr. Roland Magee Jr., and Mrs. Phyllis Eastman joined the History Department this year.

Home Ec. Girls Enjoy Cooking And Sewing

Would you like some eggs à la goldenrod with orange juice? The inquiry came from a beginner student in home economics cooking class. First-year students prepared breakfast while the advanced classes created a delectable dinner. The home economic classes, under the instruction of Mrs. Edna Marston and Miss Sue Kelly honored the faculty with a coffee hour during FHA week.

Learning to buy the material, to cut out patterns correctly, and to use the sewing machine were a few of the skills learned in sewing class. Once these were mastered such articles as aprons, shirts, and skirts, were produced.

Ninth grade home economic classes took a home nursing course, during which the pupils viewed ten films and were given demonstrations on the subject. The students who attended eighteen sessions and passed the test were awarded home nursing certificates.

New sets of books were received by the Home Economics Department to keep up with the latest trends.

Learning balance is only one of the aims in eighth grade boys' gym. Student teacher Miss Gloria Grant teaches a girls' gym class one technique of modern dance.

Beauty Of Form Stressed In Art And P.E.

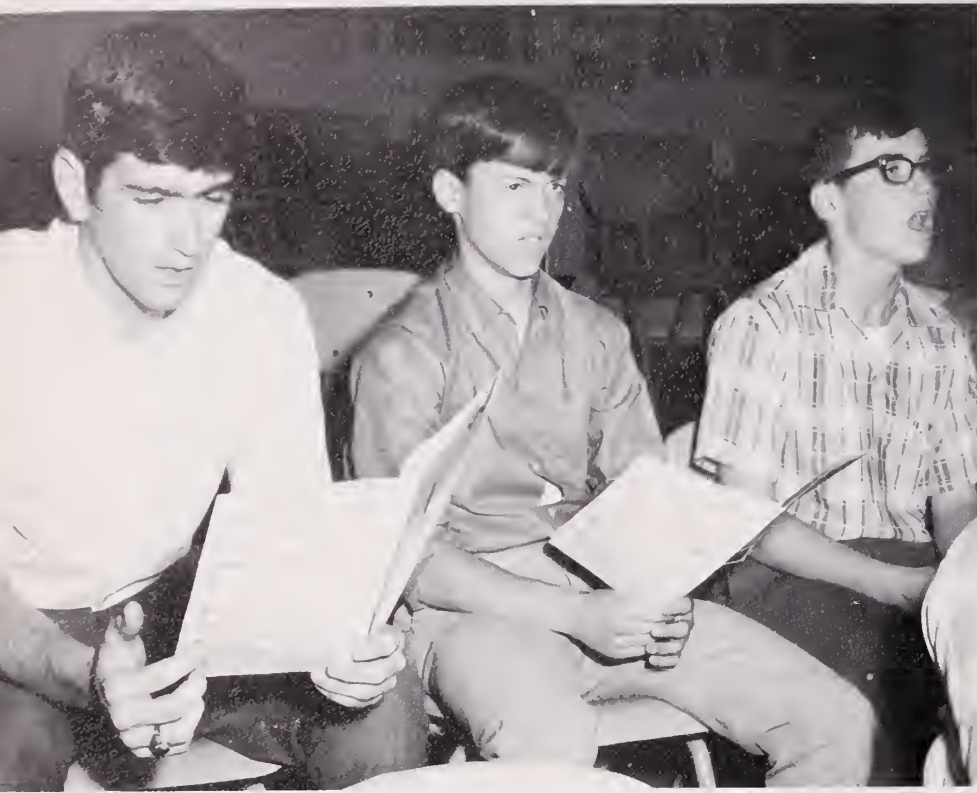

The bend and grunt method of calisthenics gave way to a broader participation in sports activities. In boys' gym the emphasis was placed on volleyball, soccer, wrestling, and golf, while the usual sporting games such as football, basketball, and baseball were also taught. Girls' gym activities included field hockey, basketball, gymnastics and modern dance. Physical Education classes offered a year of classroom health, during which students learned about the parts of the body, hygiene, first aid, and mental diseases; a six weeks course of Driver's Education was also included in the curriculum.

Art courses encompassed five class periods, three were devoted to an introductory course and two to advanced art. Pupils learned self-expression through painting, sketching, and sculpture. All types of art varying from traditional still lifes to the most avant-garde modernistic works were created by students in these classes; from time to time their art was displayed in the cafeteria and library. Miss Pat Perrin joined the art staff this year. Approximately two hundred students were enrolled.

Perseverance Demanded Of Music Students

Members of the boys' chorus, Steve Jackson, Danny Jones, and Butch Downey, diligently practice singing for the Christmas concert.

"Practice makes perfect" seems to be running through the minds of Junior Varsity Band students, Sharon Kuhns and Bill O'Neal, as they busily rehearse for an upcoming concert.

Participating in the activities of the band or choral groups not only furthered a student's interest in music but also gave him a certain amount of responsibility.

The Choral Department, under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Carter, sang at school assemblies and numerous churches and gave several concerts.

The Senior Band, directed by Mr. James P. Wilson, upheld its reputation of being one of the best bands in the state by performing well for football games, in parades, at school assemblies, for community functions, and in concerts.

The Junior Varsity Band, under the supervision of Mr. Cox, also performed highly in several concerts and parades.

In order for the music groups to function commendably, they must rehearse before, during, and after school.

Points toward an award were given to each member who attended rehearsals and performances. Awards were given at the music banquet and Awards Assembly in the spring.

A sour note brings a smile to Peggy Anzio's face as she and Betty Ames receive special instruction from Mr. Herbert Cox.

Babel Sounds Heard From Foreign Tongues

"Bonjour, mes amis," "buenos dias," and "Salvete."

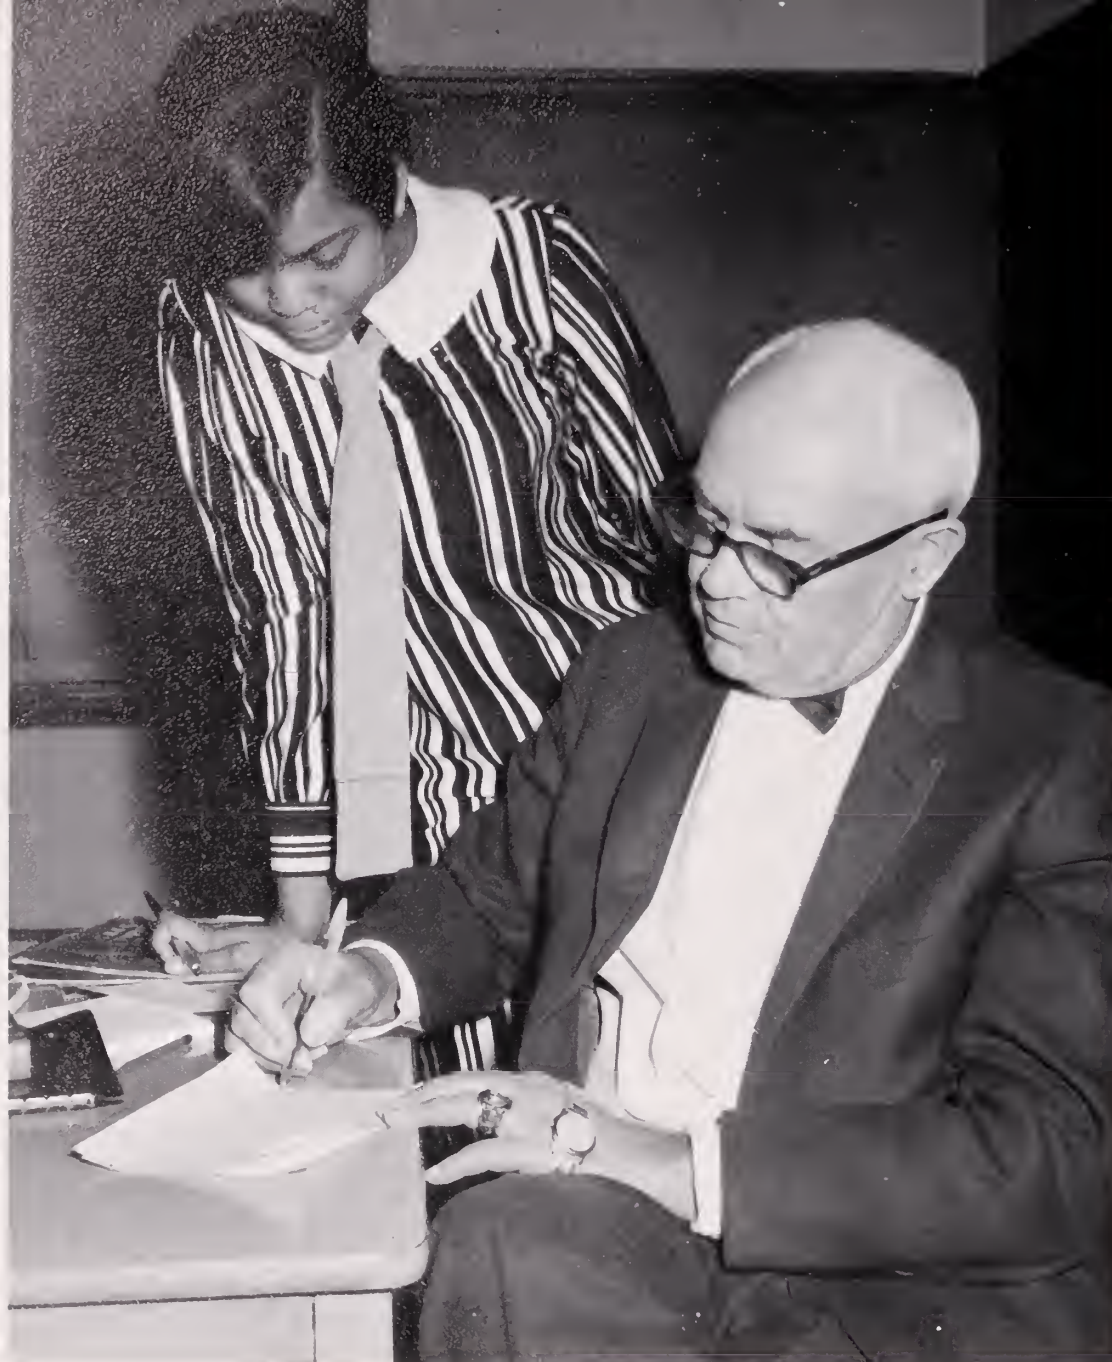

Such were the mingled sounds heard coming from different language classrooms. Tape recordings, language records, picture identification tests, and dialogues are examples of oral participation in the foreign language classrooms. In addition to these teaching methods, new books were issued to Latin students to insure an extensive, new, up-to-date study.

Well qualified students were earnestly encouraged to take foreign language courses in order to prepare for college as well as to broaden the perception of English and word origin. The history, literature, and culture of a language also taught the student to be more appreciative of the countries in which the language originated. Foreign language offerings at Newport News High School included French, Latin, and Spanish. These courses may be taken from two to four years.

New to the language staff was Charles Knight.

Data Processing Introduced To Teach

"Good afternoon. May I help you?" The voice heard on the telephone was pleasant as well as informative. The young receptionist was receiving part-time, on-the-job training in preparation for a future career while earning a weekly salary. Similar opportunities were offered to mature and responsible students who enrolled in Industrial Cooperative Training Class.

Perfection is the word in today's business world. Under the Vocation Office Training program, office management encompassing the use of duplicators, calculators, and I.B.M. machines was taught. Typing and shorthand students matched their wits against the strain of timed writings and dictation.

Introduction to Data Processing was a course which opened the door to the world of computers. The course was designed to help students decide if they were interested in Data Processing as a career.

A business-like atmosphere pervaded the Distributive Education wing when third year students assumed the responsibility of department store operation as a class project. Advertising, retailing, and management were the fundamental details of concern. Students also applied job techniques of selling which they had learned in the classroom.

With the use of skills obtained in the various business and vocational courses, these students were well on their way to exciting careers in the commercial world.

And To Equip Students For Modern Jobs

Shop Courses Train Skilled Hands

Bobby Smith works diligently on a lathe to complete his shop project.

The discord of hammering nails and running machines were the normal, day-to-day sounds heard from the wood and metal shop classes.

General shop taught the student how to work with such materials as leather, plastics, and machinery. Salad forks, electrical bells and buzzers, and small transistor radios were among the many items produced.

First year woodshop pupils learned the various types of wood and were instructed in the safe operations of hand tools. Projects created were bookends, napkin holders, tie racks, and wall plaques. Second year woodshop students worked on power machines such as the wood lathe, jointer, band saw, and shaper. Coffee tables and end tables, magazine racks, and lamps were constructed.

Metal shop students produced ashtrays, spice racks, and dustpans and were also taught work theory.

Pupils interested in engineering and architecture took drafting, which provided the basic fundamentals of mechanical drawing, using such materials as T-squares, triangles, and compasses.

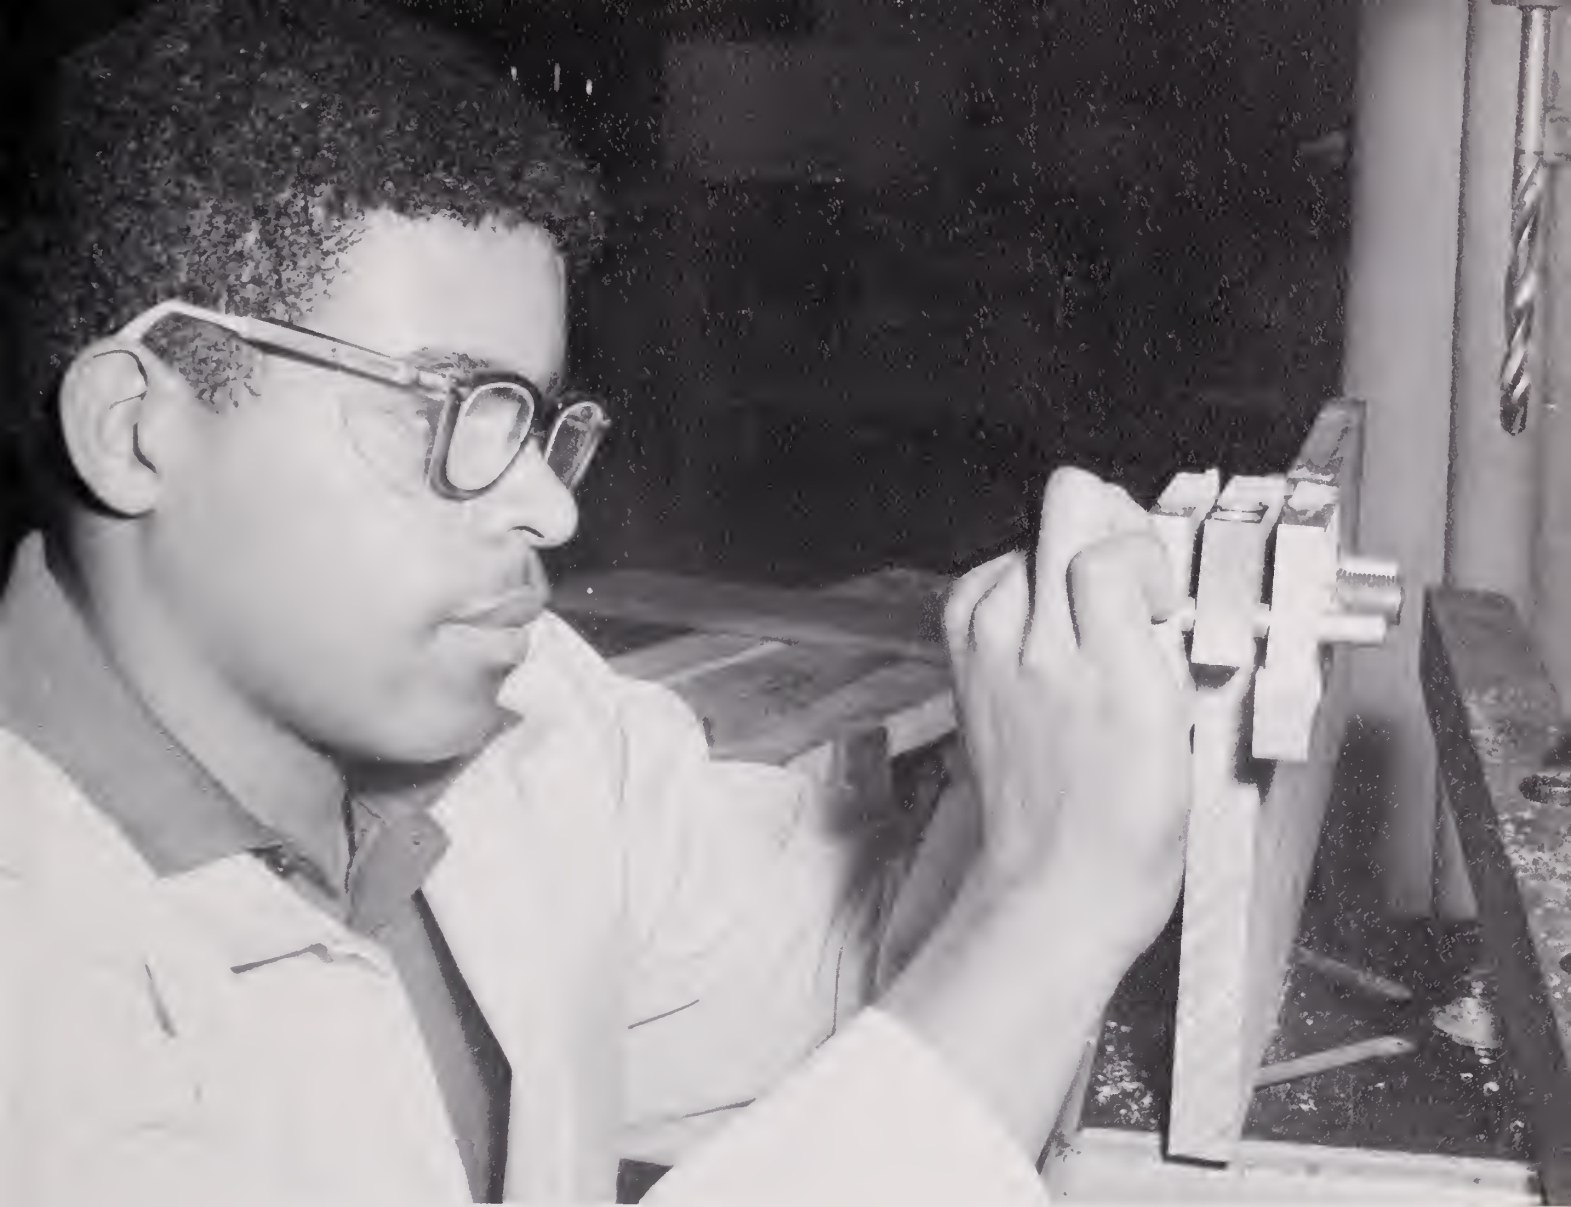

Mr. Walter Deal was the new general shop instructor, and Mr. Daniel Hardee was the new drafting teacher.

Tom Franklin pauses to examine the results of his welding.

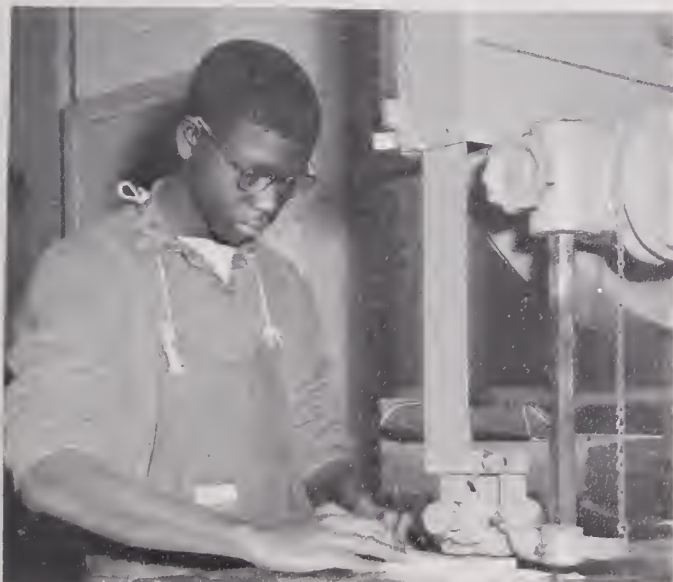

Max Benbow concentrates on planning a piece of wood on a jointer.

Preston Williams, a second year woodshop student, uses a drill presser to aid him in his project.

Leonard Melvin busily cuts out a tie rack on a band saw.

Bobby Hodges applies paint to a cabinet top as a finishing touch.

Reflections On Activities

"Band practice Thursday morning at 7:30 a.m. sharp"... "French Club meeting this afternoon"... "all money and unsold dance tickets must be in by 1:30 today"... "Spirit Club members who intend to ride the bus should sign up in 306 by Friday"...

Each of these announcements and the numerous others like them serve as reflections of the vitality and vigor of extra-curricular life at Newport News High School. They mirror the broad spectrum of activities available to the student, whether his interests and talents range from French to football. They reflect the innumerable opportunities open to the student not only to meet other people with similar interests and to form lifelong friendships but, most important, to grow and develop as an individual.

Chivalry Is Theme Of NHS Assembly

"I am Sir Scholarship . . ."

"I am Sir Leadership . . ."

"I am Sir Service . . ."

"I am Sir Character . . ."

With these words began one of the most important and impressive assemblies of the year—the National Honor Society Assembly. Using the theme of chivalry and knighthood, members of the society portrayed the four qualities of scholarship, leadership, service, and character that are requisites for membership.

National Honor Society membership is open to students in their junior and senior years who, in the opinion of the faculty, best exemplify the ideals for which the National Honor Society stands. Officers this year were: President, Ben Hogan; vice-president, Mary Alice Haynes; secretary, Nancy Ames; and treasurer, Agnes Blandford. Serving as Southeastern District president this year, was Joel Flax.

Allene Cohen serves refreshments to Mary Kay Massey and Ben Hogan at the reception held after the National Honor Society assembly.

National Honor Society Members were: First row: A. Blandford, M. A. Haynes, N. Ames, B. Hogan, Second row: Mrs. Williams, sponsor, A. Shapiro, S. Dantzler, A. Cohen, R. Shields, B. Smith, L. Roberts,

B. Baker, B. Clark, N. Webb, Third row: R. Hitchens, J. Whitcomb, J. Flax, J. Fisher, F. Stall, G. Hankins, M. Smith, M. K. Massey.

Thankless Job Done By Honor Council

This year's Honor Council members were D. Ralston, N. Webb, R. Hitchens, Mr. R. Magee, C. Sawyer, M. Wolfe, B. Hogan, J. Whitcomb, and J. Pearson.

"We the students of Newport News High School, in order to promote honor and integrity of character among the students of the school do hereby establish the Honor System . . ."

So reads the preamble of the oldest, student-administered honor system in the state. The Honor Council, charged with the awesome responsibility of upholding and administering the Honor System, strove to reach fair decisions in regard to those accused of infractions of the Honor Code. Members of the Honor Council were first nominated by the S.C.A. Executive Board and were then elected by their respective classes. This year's advisors were Mr. Ronald Magee and Mr. Charles Woollum.

The Christopher Newport Society, this year, worked very hard in making a film strip for the city of Newport News. At the end of the year the members took their annual trip to Washington, D. C. The club was led by Baxter West, president, and Mr. Driscoll, sponsor.

Christopher Newport Society Members were: First row: M. Cates, D. Stall, B. West, D. Thomas, D. O'Neal, B. Skinner, J. Melamed, R. Hoffman, R. Baker, K. Burke, J. Smith, J. M. Smith, R. Jackson, D. Wilson, Second row: L. Chapman, D. Mattox, T. Sherrill, M. Kypriandes, L. Gray, S. Witcher, S. Harris, L. Roberts, J. Warner,

B. Houston, P. Venable, D. Pierce, C. Richardson, B. Pierce, L. Varacelli, P. White, L. Higgins, Third row: L. Hogge, B. Brewer, C. Comer, V. Smith, C. Bates, C. Sawyer, S. Nicol, M. Smith, B. Reece, S. Hargadon, J. Parker, S. Takis.

"Civic responsibility" appeared to be the keystone of the Key Club's activities this year. Two movies were sponsored, the proceeds of which were donated to various charities. Key Clubbers collected for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and aided the Salvation Army for needy families on the Peninsula.

For a number of meetings, including a joint meeting with the Ferguson High Key Club, such speakers as Huey Brown, assistant basketball coach at William and Mary, and J. C. Range, physical education supervisor for the Newport News Schools, were present.

During Key Club Week, the club presented a citizenship assembly with Mr. J. W. Etheridge, former principal of N.N.H.S. as guest speaker.

This year the club was led by Rodney Hitchens president, and Mr. Bob Driscoll and Mr. Tod Christian, sponsors.

Key Club Collects For Civic Charities

Members of the Key Club were: First row: J. Flax, J. Whitcomb, R. Hitchens, N. Sosebee, G. Hile, F. Stall, Second row: M. Smith, B. West, J. Scott, J. M. Smith, R. Chalkley, J. Oliphant, Third row:

L. Bridgers, M. Mortimer, S. Lawing, L. Grizzle, H. Anker, Fourth row: J. Watkins, B. McClelland, R. Chalkley, D. Thomas, C. Richardson, L. Deane, Mr. Tod Christian.

Keyettes were: First row: C. Sawyer, S. Garth, C. Richardson, R. Green, N. Webb, B. Pierce, Mrs. Erin Christian, Second row: C. Bates, D. Pierce, M. Haynes, A. Shapiro P. Barrow, S. David, K. Yevak, Third row: G. Lucado, S. Jenkins, K. Davis, K. Johnson, J. Hirshman, S. Jones, D. Nicosia, Fourth row: P. Long, L. Bell, A. Rowe, H. Konstant, D. Buchanan, J. Ellenson, S. Weinstein, P. Weaver.

Keyettes Sponsor Serve-In

You've heard of the "sit-in", the "love-in" and the "moving-in"? Well, this year the Keyette Club, through its many activities, sponsored a "serve-in". A "serve-in" is a concerted effort to aid in civic and charitable endeavors whenever possible. The Keyettes, in preparing perceptual kits and holiday decorations for the Speech and Hearing Center, donating to the Daily Press Christmas Fund, to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund, and dressing dolls for the Salvation Army, aided Peninsula charities.

The Keyettes also honored the athletic teams with a party at the end of each season. Rounding out the activities was the cleaning up of the restrooms in the stadium and the selling of confetti at all home football games.

This year the club president was Ricki Green and the sponsor was Mrs. Erin Christian.

Launchings Gets First Place At S.I.P.A.

Agnes Blandford and Mrs. Elizabeth Mirguet look over various literary magazines.

"What do you think of that poem?"

"Well, if you don't object to sloppy rhyme and assinine themes..."

Critical evaluation and thoroughly piercing critiques of the various poems, short stories and essays submitted, is just part of the work involved in producing Launchings, the Newport News High School literary-art magazine. Not only are the various published works student written, but every illustration from the cover to photographs is student produced.

Innovations in the 1968 Launchings included an increase in size from 6" by 9" to 6½" by 10" and new vellum finish paper.

Editor was Agnes Blandford and serving as advisor of Launchings for her second year was Mrs. Elizabeth Mirguet.

Launchings Staff members were: First row: J. Roberts, K. Rothchild, J. Frank, S. Harris, Second row: R. Lerner, P. Hile, C. Jones, C. Bates, Third row: A. Blandford, E. Teddar, L. Hogge, R. Chalkley, F. Bost, Fourth row: S. McMurray, G. Batts, D. Thomas, S. Hall, Fifth row: Mrs. Elizabeth Mirguet, B. Freeman, L. West, M. Massey, J. Melamed, Sixth row: F. Farmer, L. Roberts, J. Byrd.

"Hey! Let me get a look!"

"Come on, let me see it."

"Gimme back my copy!"

The above conversation could be overheard on any Friday on which the Beacon, the popular Newport News High School newspaper, made its appearance. Published fifteen times yearly, the six-page Beacon, was almost totally student produced—with students selling the advertisements and handling the finances, writing the articles, taking the photographs and laying out the pages. Only the actual printing of the paper was not done by the students.

Putting out a newspaper was not the only thing the Beacon staff had to contend with this year. On August 27, the Beacon Room was broken into by vandals. The thieves did not take anything except a typewriter, which they demolished in the hall.

A new development on the Beacon staff this year was the creation of the position of the editorial page editor. Miss Gail Williams was the new advisor.

Miss Gail Williams and Allene Cohen discuss the layout of a dummy sheet for the Beacon.

Anchor Breaks With Traditional Patterns

Twice as much work is done by twice as many: Identical twins, Debbie and Becky Pierce.

Jack Melamed and Mrs. Martha Jo Milne check through the master layout notebook for any corrections to be made.

"This copy is terrible . . ." "this layout is an atrocity," "this double page spread will have to be done over!" This was the familiar, irate scream emanating from a certain editor-in-chief and heard by every member of the Anchor staff. With the adoption of a new dominant layout, staff members were forced to discard old notions and start from scratch, doing and re-doing page layouts until dominance became an integral part of the new 1968 yearbook, Anchor. Along with the adoption of a new type of layout, copy was written and re-written to be more factual and alive.

Other new innovations in the 1968 Anchor were the use of stipple-tone paper in place of shiny, enameled paper and the use of duotone color on all divider pages.

The Anchor also entered into the photographic business, with Mrs. Milne, who, aside from all her other duties as Anchor advisor, took on the grueling task of serving as the Anchor's chief photographer.

The Anchor staff was forced to work doubly hard in the financial department, due to the fact that only 700 activities tickets were sold. Besides the usual sale of advertisements, the staff sponsored two dances and the Typhoon Teacher Contest. Assisting Anchor adviser Mrs. Martha Jo Milne, was editor-in-chief Jack Melamed.

Frances Bost and Gary Hankins experiment with plastic shapes to secure the best page lay-out.

Members of the 1967-68 Anchor Staff were: R. Green, B. Pierce, L. Higgins, F. Bost, J. Slate, F. Stall, P. Long, G. Hankins, J. Melamed, J. M. Smith, D. Pierce, D. Thomas, H. Kounnas, S. Creasman, N. Webb, M. Laws, A. Shapiro.

While Pat Long checks class lists for typing, Sandra Dye types senior pages.

Martha Laws and J. M. Smith crop pictures to get exact fittings for page lay-outs.

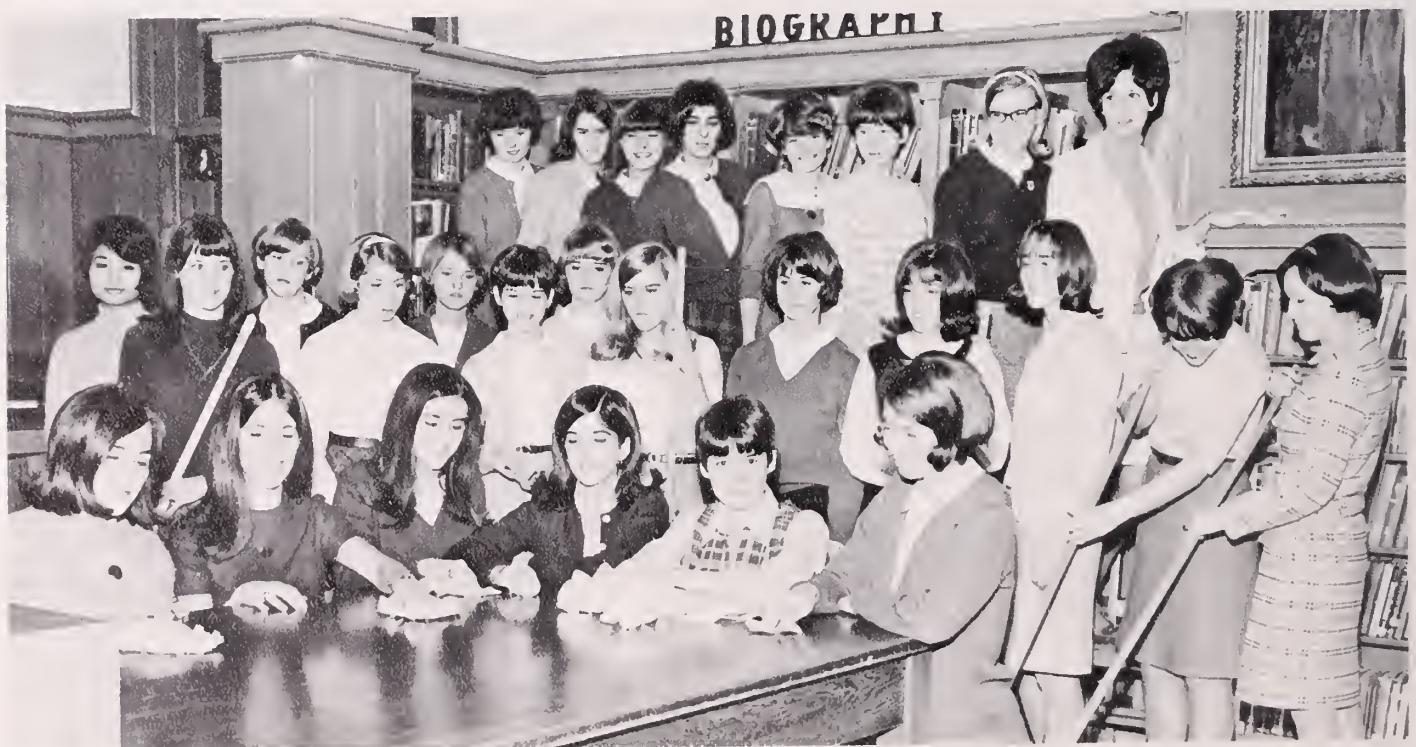

First row: D. Wilson, F. Vretos, S. Dorner, J. M. Smith, Second row: F. Farmer, F. Derzis, J. Pearson, Mr. Sam Khoshaba.

Initiated to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character, the Chesapeake Hi-Y and the Tri-Hi-Y have carried out these aims this year through projects.

The Chesapeake Hi-Y under the sponsorship of Mr. Samuel Khoshaba, donated money to the Daily Press Christmas Fund, presented the faculty with a cake at Christmas, and tended the shrubbery around the flagpole.

The Tri-Hi-Y, under the sponsorship of Miss Jane Hunsucker, cleaned the tables in the library, collected money for the Muscular Dystrophy Fund, placed flower arrangements in the teachers' lounges, contributed to the Daily Press Christmas Fund, and aided the Anchor by selling tickets to the Typhoon Teacher Dance, sponsored by the Anchor staff. Through many service projects and activities the Tri-Hi-Y made itself an outstanding example of the Christian ideals for which it has stood.

Tri-Hi-Y Cleans The Library

Tri-Hi-Y Members were: First row: E. Overton, N. Di Giacomo, L. Higgins, H. Konstant, E. Ryan, A. Rowe, Second row: P. Leong, D. Stanaway, M. Hamel, D. Mattox, B. Goard, T. Arrington,

B. Trainum, C. Cooper, P. Barrow, P. White, P. Weaver, D. Lucado, B. Turner, Third row: C. Sawyer, L. Walker, D. Snadige, J. Easmeil, R. Hilsdon, P. Blaylock, Y. Merriman, J. Payne.

Future Nurses were: First row: B. Somers, D. Pierce, V. King, P. Long, M. Waters, P. Leong, D. Griffin, J. Slate, D. Caldwell, S. Hensel, Second row: J. Parker, J. Parker, A. Johnson, S. Nicol, B. Brewer, J. Marshall, in bed is S. Atkinson attended by Mrs. Thelma Kiser.

Future Nurses Club Aids Red Cross

F.H.A. members were: D. Enos, S. Church, T. Eppes, W. Plessinger, M. Pearson, Miss Sue Kelly, E. Gregory, D. Caldwell, and F. Bost.

Try to describe the members of the Future Nurses Club. Beautiful femme fatales pursued by handsome young internes? Well, not quite! How about girls thoroughly enthusiastic and sincerely interested in the nursing profession? You hit it on the button!

The members, this year, by working in cooperation with the Red Cross, visited MacDonald Army Hospital, recruited blood donors, served as volunteers at bloodmobiles, and truly learned of the hard work and stamina which entails the profession.

The Future Nurses Club succeeded through its many activities in opening a door to a nursing profession for many girls.

The Future Homemakers, under the sponsorship of Miss Sue Kelly, prepared its members for the responsibility involved in homemaking and for handling these responsibilities.

Marine Biology Is Science Club Project

"We're number two, and we'll try harder." This cry could be heard by any Science Club member this year. In striving to become number one club in the state, the N.N.H.S. Science Club undertook many projects and took many field trips.

The club project revolved around marine biology and the preservation of marine specimens. Many of the field trips involved a search for marine specimens, as did trips to Stuart Gardens beach and Yorktown beach. Other trips included a journey to the Planetarium, the Virginia Institute of Marine Science and the Casey Foundation for Research and Enlightenment in Virginia Beach.

Members of the N.N.H.S. Chess Club worked hard and practiced often to improve their game. Their technique of strategy proved both interesting and enjoyable. Sponsoring the club were Mr. Charles Knight and Mr. Gerald Roe.

Science Club members were: First row: G. Grannum, J. Fink, G. Shelton, R. Baker, G. Hankins, M. Waddell, T. Nickens, Second row: S. Takis, L. Gray, K. Rothchild, D. Griffin, L. Walton, J. Pearson, B. Freeman, J. Frank, Miss Joan Faunce, Mrs. Frances Nettles, Third row: P. Crayton, M. Cates, A. Wall, S. Oliver, K. Burke, R. Hoffman, G. Perry, A. Dennis, S. Robinson, B. Copeland.

F.B.L.A. members were: First row: B. Trainum, B. Singletary, S. Williams, L. Nunnaly, J. Baker, M. Cruz, J. Byrd, Second row: B. Huggins, C. Xynisteri, R. Graham, J. Washington, S. Williams, B. Kerman, Third row: V. Smith, J. Warner, L. Chapman, J. Minns, C.

Lawrence, Y. Merriman, K. Larsen, Fourth row: Mrs. Phyllis Volhein, L. Soloman, J. Blanchard, J. Baker, L. Maraki, P. Fineman, D. Sandidge, M. Aguado.

F.B.L.A. Starts Supply Store This Year

Ever run out of paper? Lose your pencil or need a notebook? Up until this year, either you bummed off your friends or did without. But now, thanks to the supply store set up by the Future Business Leaders of America, this awful problem has been solved. Other activities of the F.B.L.A. included the sponsoring of a float in the Homecoming Parade, the financing of a private telephone in the V.O.T. room, the collecting of food for needy families and the purchasing of toys for underprivileged children.

Did you ever wonder what a future teacher did? Not only was the interest in teaching. Members of the Future Teachers' Club gave a bake sale, had a book sale, observed in elementary schools, and selected a Teacher of the Month.

F.T.A. members were: First row: B. Pierce, H. Kounnas, S. Jenkins, K. Yevak, Second row: G. Perry, R. Green, A. Cohen, A. Shapiro, J. Hirshman, L. Hile, S. Weinstein, S. David, Third row: F. Cheek, B. Franklin, J. Mabe, B. Brewer, G. Batts, M. Laws, Mrs. Margaret Minnick.

Members of the VICA Club were: First Row: J. Crouch, M. Bazemore, S. Roberts, B. Boggs, Mr. Frank Correll, P. Nichols, A. McIntyre, A. Carper, P. Born. Second Row: R. Taylor, J. Swall, E. Oshansky, J. Mullins, P. Crum, G. Rigney, R. Raper.

The Distributive Education Club won many contests bringing honors to the club. Its float, decorated by the members, won second place in the Homecoming Parade. In the District competition, Mike Young's display won second and Bill Sims won first place in the Job Interview contest. Mr. Thomas Marvin and Mr. John Raible served as advisors for the DE Club.

The VICA Club, new this year, participated in the District Convention at Warwick High School, the Regional Convention in Virginia Beach, and the State Convention in Natural Bridge. In the District Convention, the club won eight contests, which included public speaking, job interview, talent, spelling, and current events. The advisor of the VICA Club was Mr. Frank Correll.

New VICA Club Wins In District Contests

Audience Participates In Spring Play

Thespians is an unfamiliar name to many members of N.N.H.S., yet to those interested in drama, Thespians mean a great deal. The Thespians are a group of students who have made some outstanding contributions to the Drama Department. Admission to the National Thespian Society may be earned by acting, by working in the stage crew, or by helping backstage where much of the work is done.

The Thespians went to Wedgewood Theatre in Williamsburg where they were invited to attend the dress rehearsal of their play. The advisor of Thespians was Mr. Bentley Anderson. He directed two plays this year. The fall play was A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Psychiatrist. In the spring an exciting courtroom drama was presented entitled The Night of January 16th, which used the audience as jury members to decide at the end of the play whether or not the defendant was guilty or not guilty.

Right: Karen Andre, played by Ginny Holloman, is about to be conducted to the courtroom by the prison matron, Janet Remak, where she will be tried for a murder which took place on The Night of January 16th.

Language Clubs Hold Christmas Party

To have a better understanding of Roman life and culture is the aim of the members of the Latin Club. For the first time, the annual Roman Banquet was held at the Virginian Restaurant. The club also purchased an ad in the Anchor. Serving as officers of the Latin Club were: Jerry Smith, president; Karen Yevak, vice president; Jane Schweida, secretary; and Becky Franklin, sergeant-at-arms. Serving as sponsor was Mrs. Louise Mundie.

The French Club under the sponsorship of Miss Algilene Hearn encouraged the study and speaking of the French tongue. During Christmas vacation a Christmas party was held by the French Club, Spanish Club, and Latin Club, and a dance was held in the spring. Officers were: Joyce Linhart, president; Shirley Jenkins, vice-president; Agnes Blandford, treasurer; Janet Hirshman, secretary; and Hope Kounnas, sergeant-at-arms.

Furthering interest in Spanish was the purpose of the Spanish Club. With the help of its sponsor, Mr. Charles Knight, the Spanish Club had a very successful car wash. A banquet was held for the induction of new members, along with other Spanish Clubs in the area, on April 26, 1968, Frank Vretos served as president, with Joey Fink as vice president, Gail Perry, secretary, Ruth Lerner, treasurer, and Frank Derzis, sergeant-at-arms.

SCA Presents Flag

The Student Cooperative Association's membership consists of the whole student body. The S.C.A. is made up of two branches: the Student Council and the Executive Board.

Consisting of a representative from each homeroom, the Student Council is the center of all student activities. Acting as a steering committee for the Student Council, the Executive Board meets regularly to suggest improvements and to plan activities.

The Student Council began the year with the Orientation Assembly for the incoming mice. It sponsored "Up With People," a patriotic group of young people. Three school dances were also sponsored by the S.C.A. For the first time an Inter-club Council was started and it consisted of representatives from all of the organizations and classes in the school.

As assembly was held presenting the rewritten copy of the SCA Constitution. The SCA also collected for the Gerald Grogan Scholarship Fund and for the Leukemia Fund. Ending up a very successful year, the Student Council presented the school with a flag to be displayed on the stage.

School Spirit Committee was: A. Shapiro, T. Larsen, C. Richardson, K. McDaniel, J. Liversedge, C. Thomas.

Lost and Found Committee was: standing: J. Smith, J. M. Smith, Seated: G. Lucado, Remembrance, and M. A. Haynes, Scrapbook.

Special Events Committee was: J. Melamed, S. Weinstein, E. Tedder, R. Green.

Were Projects Of Various SCA Committees

There are ten standing committees of the Student Cooperative Association.

The Dance Committee held three very successful dances. During Christmas and Valentine's Day, a post office was held to distribute holiday cards among the student body. The Citizenship Committee handled this and the election of Friendly Typhoons. The Cafeteria Committee decorated the bulletin board in the cafeteria. "Typhoon Gossip" was started to publicize the activities of the school. The Publicity Committee did this and also had the bulleting boards repaired and recovered with colored burlap. The House Committee took on the ambitious task of cleaning the 109 athletic trophies.

Promoting school spirit with banners and posters was the School Spirit Committee. Lost books, notebooks, etc., were taken care of by the Lost and Found Committee. The SCA scrapbook was kept up to date by the Scrapbook Committee. Cards, flowers, and other remembrances were taken care of by the Remembrance Committee. Orientation, Mouse, Christmas, Brotherhood, and Induction Assemblies were all prepared, staged, and presented by the Special Events Committee.

Right: Cafeteria and Publicity Committees were: D. Lewis, C. Richardson, K. Yevak, S. Hargadon, S. Price, M. K. Massey, J. Pearson, D. Nicosia.

Citizenship Committee was: J. Fisher, B. McClelland.

SCA officers were left: treasurer, Robin Chalkley; vice president, Larry Bridgers; parliamentarian, Floyd Stall; and secretary, Helen Konstant.

Inter-Club Council Initiated This Year

The officers of any organization are its backbone. The officers of the Student Co-operative Association are the backbone of the student body.

Serving as president of the SCA was Joel Flax, who had previously served as treasurer. Working with the Inter-Club Council was vice-president, Larry Bridgers, who also drew up its constitution. Helen Konstant kept the minutes, serving as secretary; keeping the finances straight was Robin Chalkley, treasurer. Floyd Stall, parliamentarian, was responsible for guiding correct parliamentary procedure, and he was also in charge of the elections held in April for new SCA officers.

New this year as SCA advisor was Miss Bonnie Abbitt, whose advice and guidance helped to achieve a progressive attitude for the SCA.

On April 5-7, the SCA sent delegates to the state convention in Arlington, Virginia. Attending this convention were Robin Chalkley, Chuck Richardson, and Jerry Watkins.

Ending up the school year, the Installation Assembly was held on May 6. The new officers were inducted and the new executive board was introduced.

Every boy who has earned a letter in any major sport gains eligibility for membership in the Varsity Letterman's Club. This group of athletes sold tickets to the Peninsula Coaches Basketball Invitational Game, the proceeds of which went to the Gerald Grogan Scholarship Fund. President was Jimmy Cutler, with Coach Charles Nuttycombe as adviser.

Sponsoring buses to away football games was among the activities of the Varsity Spirit Club. It also sold spirit ribbons to promote school spirit for many of the games. Miss Mary E. Sexton was adviser, with Janet Hirshman and Jerry Smith serving as Spirit Leaders.

Members of the Varsity Letterman's Club were: first row: A. Walker, J. Peoples, I. Porter, M. Mortimer, J. Scott, M. Wilson, J. Watkins, D. Dickinson, S. Jackson. second row: L. Burden, B. Simms, B. Hogan, H. Smith, B. Howell, B. Parrish, T. Koskinas, B. McClelland, R. Jordan. third row: R. Kiser, J. Fisher, R. Hitchens, N. Sosebee, R. Reeves.

An integral part of the Typhoon Band is the Varsity Flagtwirlers. This group of girls has the relentless job of twirling and marching at all football games, pep assemblies, and parades in which the band takes part.

The high point of football season is the Thanksgiving game, and the Sunday before Thanksgiving, the flagtwirlers were hostesses at a banquet at the Gourmet Inn, for the Hampton High Majorettes. At this banquet, flowers to be worn at the game were exchanged.

When problems concerning the band come up, there is a special group of band students who discuss and try to solve these problems. This is the Band Council, made up of a representative from each grade. The president was Jay Oliphant; vice-president, Vicki Batts; secretary, Nancy Webb; and treasurer, Ray Jones. Ninth grade representative was Pat Hile, tenth grade was Terry Sturgis, eleventh grade was Gerry Mingee, and twelfth grade was Glen Hile.

Breeze Band Marches On Armed Forces Day

Seldom heard, seldom seen, often neglected, was the Newport News High School Breeze Band. These hard-working students put in long hours of diligent practice and they received little recognition.

The Breeze Band, along with the Junior Varsity Flagwirlers, performed at many of the J. V. football games as well as at the Varsity Homecoming Game.

Parades were also a big part of the activities of the Breeze Band, which marched in the Homecoming Parade, the Williamsburg Christmas Parade and the Armed Forces Day Parade.

Along with the Typhoon Marching Band, the Breeze Band participated in the annual Christmas concert and in the spring concert.

The Breeze Band was under the direction of Mr. Herbert Cox and drum major Robert O'Neal.

Talent Sums Up Chorus

Over one hundred students participated in choral work this year and added credit to a growing reputation for excellence in performance. The key to this success was reflected in the skillful direction of Mrs. Dorothy Carter, to talented singers, and to long hours of practice.

Singing at numerous Assembly programs, the members rendered inestimable service to the school. At Christmastime, the chorus sang for a local firm, Electronics Service, which gave them a tape recorder for the department. In March the Cabaret was given. The spring concert followed in May. The members also participated in the Regional Chorus, the Workshop Chorus, and in the All-Virginia Chorus. They ended the year with special music at Commencement.

Diana Earls sings that favorite soul song, "Going Out of My Head Over You", as she thumps out this rhythm with her big toe.

"Why do you hold that tiger by the tail?" asks Jerry Clark. "Cause the other end bites" replies Donnie Camper. They sang that country music favorite, "I Got a Tiger by the Tail."

"No You Can't Get a Man with a Gun" belts out Kathy "Calamity Jane" Haynes as she attempts to woo her lovers, Donnie Camper and Jerry Clark. At the end of her song, she took after her men in a most militant way—shooting her Winchester rifle.

Cabaret Captivates All

One of the highlights of the year was the Cabaret presented by the Choral Department with the cooperation of the Drama Department and the Dance Band of the Senior Band. From the opening scene with the guest Barbershop Quartet's tuneful singing to the finale by the entire group, the program was packed full of zestful entertainment. Unlike any concert ever given at N.N.H.S. before, this program resembled a well executed T.V. show, due to the special lighting effects, the boardwalk projecting out into the audience, and the freshness and vigor of the numbers as well as the informality of the grouping. The big beat music of the Dance Band, the go-go girls, the Hawaiian dancer added interest and verve to the evening.

So great was the enthusiasm for Cabaret that by request it was presented in a student assembly several days later. The combination of good music, excellent staging and lighting, a "groovy" dance band and—well what would you expect but the best in entertainment?

Right: Flower Child Marlene Waters strums her guitar in the "Moon River" sequence.

Below: "You coax the blues right out of the horn, Mame" sing the combined voices of the Boys' Chorus, Girls' Chorus and Concert Choir in a rousing rendition of "Mame".

Typhoon Band Shows Spirit Through Hard

"And now direct your attention to the south end of the field and to the Newport News High School Typhoon Marching Band." During the fall season this sound was synonymous with the N.N.H.S. football games, not only at home, but as far away as Arlington.

Getting up at the crack of dawn, rehearsing at night, practicing relentlessly the Typhoon Band worked hard to uphold its reputation for excellence, as demonstrated in their annual winter, Christmas, and spring concerts. The Band also found time to lend its support to all of the pep assemblies.

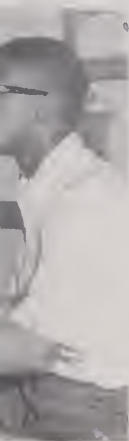

In order to finance their trip to Arlington, the Band members worked very hard in selling Rex, candy, and band calendars.

Special highlights of the season were performances at the Apprentice School Homecoming, at a Norfolk Neptune football game, and in the Oyster Bowl Parade.

Below: Concentration and intent interest and hard work are reflected in the faces of the participants at a daily preschool Senior Band rehearsal.

Reflections On Classes

Mouse assembly . . . class meetings . . . money making projects . . . class dues . . . more money making projects . . . ordering senior rings . . .

These events, typical of those that occur in any class, are reflections on what, at first, seemed the impossible. Within, four short years the seemingly insurmountable differences between the timid, bumbling mouse and the confident, self-assured, rising senior have been bridged. These events are reflections of the growth, development and maturity that is intrinsic in the underclassmen years. They mirror the remarkable transformation of the unsure eighth grader into the determined rising senior ready to face and bear the responsibilities of being a senior.

Reflections On Athletics

Championship Trophy, Football Team, Eastern Virginia Championship, Thanksgiving Day 1920... Runner Up-Third Scholastic Basketball Tournament Washington and Lee University 1926... Virginia High School League Group I State Basketball Champions 1951... 1967-68 State Indoor Track Champions... winner of the Julie Conn Trophy for 1968...

These trophies and their 152 other companion pieces serve as reflections of the long history of achievement and success in athletics that has become synonymous throughout Virginia with the name of Newport News High School. Yet these trophies reflect much more than the ephemeral glory and honor of victory. They stand as mute reminders of the hard work, determination and devotion demanded of the athlete. They reflect the lessons which athletics teach to the willing individual—the ability to face victory or defeat with equal equanimity, the instilling of high standards of conduct and sportsmanship and the developing of a strength of character that only team effort can build.

James Cutler reflects upon the coveted Julie Conn Trophy awarded to him by vote of the varsity lettermen for being the most outstanding athlete of 1968.

Typhoons Have 2-7-1 Record

A dismal Typhoon football season opened September 8th with a 49-13 loss at the hands of the Presidents of Wilson High School. Besides amassing a total of 205 yards on the ground against the perennial football power, the Typhoons also made good in the passing department, scoring against Wilson on a 10-yard pass from Hank Smith to Doug Dickinson, and a 40-yard pass from Kenny Thomas to Steve Jackson.

Despite the setback, the Newport team put up a good fight and proved that they would be a power to be reckoned with in the future.

A cold rainy night at York High School was the scene of the second loss for the Newport team. It was the Blue and Gold's first loss to the Falcons in ten years. The mighty Typhoons led the game until the last five minutes, when York surged ahead to win the game 27-26.

Close Losses Plague Football Season

Typhoon runners make it look easy to run against Hampton.

"You can't win 'em all," but you can have a strong competitive spirit. Even though close losses plagued the Typhoons, each new game played saw the team battling with renewed vigor and determination. Often the score was not indicative of the game, as revealed by a few highlights of the season.

The height of the Yorktown—N. News game came when Larry Burden picked off a Yorktown pass and ran it back for a 52-yard touchdown . . . The Typhoons outdid Maury in almost every category, holding them scoreless until the fourth quarter . . . Kecoughtan could only manage a 6-6 tie against the Big Blues and was held scoreless until late in the fourth quarter . . . Against George Washington in Danville, the two Typhoon scores came on a 1-yard plunge by Don Carter and a 65-yard after-fumble recovery by Steve Jackson . . . The Homecoming game was the first game in the history of the school that a Ferguson team emerged victorious over the Typhoons . . . In the 70th meeting of N. News and Hampton for the Turkey Day classic, the Crabbers enjoyed a definite advantage. They had only a 7-0 lead at half time. The Typhoons burst forth in the second half with 12 points, but they could not contain the Crabbers and fell 35-12. Yet the Typhoons were the only team able to score two touchdowns against Hampton in regular season play.

Doug Dickinson scores a touchdown on an end sweep against Ferguson.

Basketball

The Newport News High School basketball team opened its 1967-68 season with a 71-65 win over John Marshall. This game ushered in a season worse than any other a Newport team had in the past twenty years. Ending with a disappointing 10-9 record, Newport News did, however, manage to attain its 21st consecutive winning season. Unfortunately, the record alone does not indicate the illnesses and injuries which plagued key members of the team, or the many games opponents won by margins of a few points. As the Typhoons played their first games, they realized that tougher teams meant fewer wins.

Team Takes Fourth Place In District

After putting their first game of the season in the win column, the Typhoon team lost three straight to Granby, Maury, and York. The Big Blue could not recover from a 62-59 loss to Granby in a four team tournament at Norfolk and also fell to strong Maury 81-48, the second worse loss in the history of N.N.H.S. The next disheartening defeat came at the hands of district foe York High School, a team that had never before defeated Newport News in basketball. As were many of the Typhoon's losses this year, the one to the Falcons was also close, 64-58.

In the fourth game of the season against Ferguson, the Typhoons revived their winning ways to down the Mariners 85-59. They returned the next night to meet Great Bridge in a grudge match. The Big Blue also put this game in the win column 80-63. The Newport team notched its third straight win against James Blair.

Showing great determination and team spirit which have typified outstanding Newport News teams of the past, the Typhoons handed previously undefeated Hampton its first and only loss of the regular season 57-51.

Newport News made it five straight by routing arch-rival Warwick and then won the sixth by clobbering Denbigh. The winning streak ended here, however, as the Big Blue fell hard to Kecoughtan and also lost close games with Hampton, York, and Ferguson.

Newport News secured a tournament berth by defeating Warwick, James Blair, and Denbigh, before falling to Kecoughtan.

The Blue and Gold entered the Peninsula District Group 1-A Tournament in fourth place, pitted against district leader Hampton High School. The Typhoons couldn't keep up with the Crabbers and thus concluded a promising season with a disappointing ending.

Cross Country Achieves Winning Slate

Even before school opened in the fall, the diligent members of the Cross Country Team of Newport News High School had begun practicing for their track season. Starting in early August, the boys ran many miles each day to get in shape for the tough competition inside and outside the Peninsula District.

Led by Coach Julius Conn and team captains Jimmy Cutler and Richard Beale, the Cross Country team participated against other district teams in dual meets, in the William and Mary Invitational Meet, and in the Peninsula District Tournament. At the William and Mary meet, Newport News finished a disappointing tenth place and could only manage a fifth place in the district contest. Despite this, the Typhoons attained a 4-3 record and helped carry on the fine track tradition at N.N.H.S.

as Jimmy Cutler rubs his own leg.

The Newport News High School Indoor Track Team this year continued in the style of past track teams and raced to another undefeated season. Bedecked with talent possessed by no other State Group 1-A team, the Typhoons began their season by devastating the Ferguson Mariners 96-22.

Newport News made this type of impressive showing in the next five meets against Peninsula District high schools, downing Kecoughtan 99-19, York 92-29, Warwick 93-25, and archrival Hampton 96-22. The Typhoon team's brilliant record reflects the fact that Newport News has not lost a dual track meet in ten years.

When the district meet came, the Typhoons easily won it, scoring 85 points. Although the track team had done so well, their biggest test, the State Indoor Meet at V.M.I., was still to be met. With fantastic efforts by all members of the team, Newport News collected its seventh track crown in the past nine years; a suitable ending for such a great team.

Typhoon track specialist Doug Dickinson almost seems to roll over the bar as he competes in the high jump, one of his many events. The versatile Dickinson regularly performed in as many as six contests per meet and it was rare for him not to place first in each.

Keeping ahead of the competition was the job of Joe Moore. Here a track official times Joe as he outruns a York High School track man.

Typhoons Take State Outdoor Title

Jimmy Cutler, another of the Newport News track stars, dashes to victory in the dual meet with the Warwick High Farmers. The very talented Typhoon squad received invaluable aid throughout the year from this senior.

After long hours of practice for months, the outdoor track team faced James Blair in their first meet. This outing proved successful, and the Typhoons came away with over one hundred points. They continued to do this as the season progressed and defeated only Warwick and Hampton with scores of less than one hundred.

Everything looked bright as Newport News entered the district and left with more points than the opposition combined. The regional meet was also added to the long list of Typhoon victories a week later.

As the close of the track season approached, the Typhoon team still had to participate in the state outdoor meet. Despite a day of many disappointments, Newport News nevertheless managed to walk away with the state crown.

Jerry Watkins Pitches A Perfect Game

John DiGiacomo is congratulated by Bobby Creekmore after hitting the season's first home run.

In their first game of the season, the Typhoons got off to a good start as they demolished Poquoson 6-1. The next contest saw Hampton lose, as Jerry Watkins hurled a perfect game, the first in Peninsula District history.

After losing to James Blair, Newport News renewed its winning ways by defeating Warwick, York, and Kecoughtan. Their second loss came after eleven innings at Denbigh.

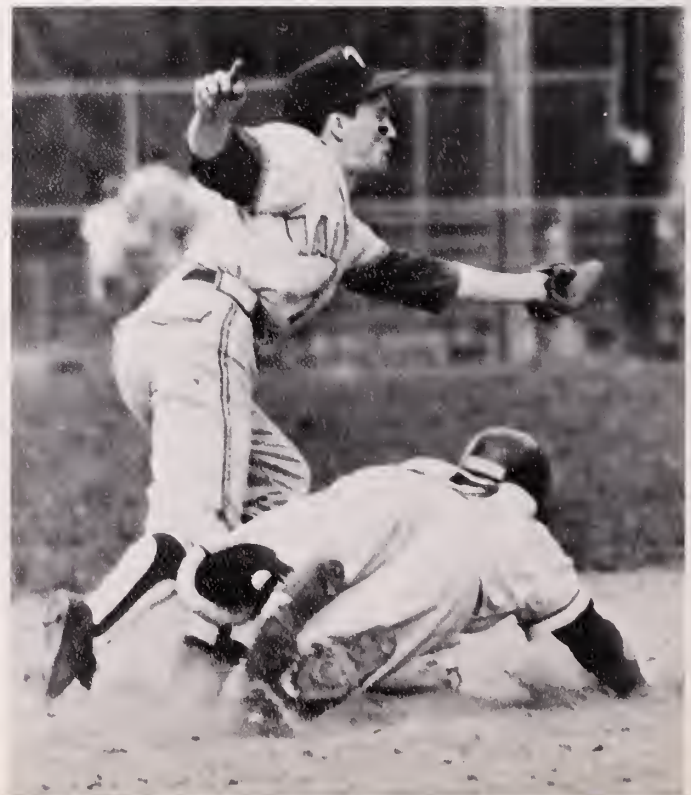

Despite this loss, the Newport team came back with wins over Ferguson and Poquoson. Hampton avenged an earlier loss, but the Typhoons bounced back by downing James Blair.

Three defeats by Warwick, York, and Kecoughtan and wins over Denbigh and Ferguson rounded out the Typhoons season. The 10-6 overall record attained by this surprising baseball team is a definite accomplishment since most of the team will be returning next year.

J.V. Football Team Has 3-3 Record

Although a junior varsity team practices as long and as hard to achieve excellence as a varsity team, the upperclassmen inevitably take the foreground, no matter what successes the underclassmen might attain. This year, instructed by Coaches Thomas Marvin and Charles Woollum, the J. V. football team competed favorably against other district teams such as Hampton, Warwick, Kecoughtan, and York. In these games the Baby Blue proved its abilities, and can look forward to a very successful future.

Following in the tradition of N.N.H.S. sports, the Junior Varsity baseball team ended its year with the pride of knowing it had defeated arch-rival Hampton High School.

J.V. Basketball Team Finishes Second

Under the guidance of Coach Harlan Hott, the Newport News junior varsity basketball team compiled a 12-4 record. Led by Phil Allen, JoJo Bethea, and Bobby Creekmore, the team was aided by willing and capable substitutes. The closest games were with John Marshall of Richmond and York. In the game against John Marshall, the Typhoons got their first and one of their few defeats of the season. Newport News split with York, winning 50-45 and losing 45-31. A great future lies ahead for these hard-hitting, goal-striving players.

Gymnasts Work Toward State Meet

This year's GAA inspired character, sportsmanship, and talent. Skill was stressed in each of the girls' sports. The officers for 1967-68 were: President, Lulie Roberts; vice-president, Pam Holcomb; secretary-treasurer, Diane Springfield. The presentation of awards and letters in the Awards Assembly brought another active year in GAA to an end.

Working towards the State Gymnastics Meet were the eight girls who made up the Girls' Gymnastic team. Five of the most skilled were chosen to compete against girls from all over the state of Virginia. These nervous but limber group of gymnasts participated in such events as tumbling, balance beam, horse, uneven parallel bars, and floor exercises. Mrs. Carolyn Green taught and encouraged these girls to show grace and agility in each event. Miss Beverly Bowman coached a group of girls in beginners' apparatus. These are the basic fundamentals and the prerequisite for becoming an advanced gymnast.

Hockey Team Downs Denbigh, Fergie, York

With the opening of school came the 1967-68 hockey season. Hockey is considered to be a very rough sport, but many girls choose to participate each year.

The Varsity Hockey Team is chosen from girls in grades 11-12. These girls must prove themselves safe players and be able to think quickly and clearly. The team, led by Captain Debby Jenkins and coached by Miss Ann Parker and Mrs. Carolyn Green, held practice every Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at Jackson Elementary School.

If bruised shins and sprained ankles were indications of skill, the girls did their jobs well by defeating such schools as York, Denbigh, and Ferguson. The season culminated with a tournament held at Cox High School in Norfolk.

Basketball Teams Enjoy Lively Competition

The J. V. Basketball Team was: C. Comer, P. Barrow, K. Jones, P. Adcock, M. Waters, D. Sandige, S. Mallory, L. Fortner, G. Perry, S. Nicol, and coach, Miss Ann Parker.

J.V. Cheerleaders Spark Enthusiasm

No J.V. football or basketball game would be complete without the aid of the J.V. Cheerleaders. These girls followed the teams wherever they went and enthusiastically cheered them through both victories and defeats. Always active and spirited, these girls worked hard to promote school spirit throughout the student body.

In the spring, tryouts are held to select the seven girls from the rising freshmen and sophomores. All applicants must have an overall C average. They are chosen by a group of faculty members and graduating seniors. The cheerleaders are selected not only on cheering ability, but also on personal poise and appearance. Sponsoring the group was Mrs. Virginia Masters.

Girl's basketball once again proved to be an exciting sport. After four weeks of practice, twenty-four girls were chosen to make up the J.V. and Varsity teams. Debbie Miller was chosen as captain of the Varsity team; Gail Perry headed up the J.V. team. These girls showed their skill against such schools as York, Ferguson, and Denbigh. Mrs. Virginia Masters coached the Varsity team; Miss Ann Parker coached the J.V. team.

Varsity Cheerleaders for this year were: J. Schweida, P. White, A. Gore, M. A. Haynes, G. Lucado (head), B. Smith, C. Richardson, B. Clark, S. David.

Spirited Cheerleaders Boost Morale

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar, all for Newport stand up and holler!" was a familiar sound at any of the games this year, thanks to the Varsity Cheerleaders who supplied a constant stream of cheers, encouragement and enthusiasm. As one of the hardest working and most active groups at N.N.H.S., the Varsity Cheerleaders attended an average of 30 games, wrote, directed, and staged 10 pep assemblies and screamed a total of 8,100 cheers or 750 cheers per girl.

The nine girls who make up the Varsity squad are chosen in the spring of each year by a committee composed of faculty members, senior cheerleaders and graduating student leaders. Serving this year as sponsor of the Varsity Cheerleaders was Miss Ann Parker.

Center: Pat White cheers enthusiastically as the Typoon team scores another touchdown.

Reflections On Seniors

Mouse Assembly... class meetings... exams... Hampton pep assemblies... report cards... PSAT... senior rings... ordering calling cards and announcements... Class Night... Senior Luncheon... Commencement...

These events are but reflections of five years of dreaming, striving and working toward one solitary goal—graduation. They reflect the growth, maturity and development that have filled the students' five years at N.N.H.S. These events mirror the miraculous metamorphosis that has transformed the timid, shy eighth grader into an alumnus armed with knowledge and prepared to go forth and fend for himself as an adult in an adult world.

Class Controversy Ends With Harmony

Controversy, hard work, interest, and still more hard work best summarized the activities of the senior class this year. Heated discussions and circulated petitions over the choice of the Prom band figured chiefly as the controversy, while selection of announcements and pennants, election of the Hall of Fame and the adoption of a Prom theme rounded out the activities of the class.

Senior executive board, composed of senior class officers and committee chairmen, authorized the sale of senior pins, the sponsoring of several dances, and the granting of an option to the Class Night committee to either write an original script or adapt a play. Serving as the sponsor of the Class of 1968 was Mrs. Esther Thomas.

"Our Class" Senior Class Night Presentation

Our Class, an adaption of Thornton Wilder's Our Town, was the program presented June 6, 1968 at Senior Class Night.

With a minimum of props and only a bare stage as the background, the stage manager, portrayed by Joel Flax, narrated a montage of scenes portraying the five year history of the Class of 1968 at Newport News High School. Depicted first was the eighth grade year of the Class of '68 and all the foibles and frustrations of finally being in high school as well as the glory and pride of having your team win the state basketball championship. The next scenes evoked memories of Beware of the Bear and Nellie Was A Lady, the class' ninth and tenth grade tournament plays as well as the popular songs and dances of those years. Representing the Class of 1968's junior year was a scene concerning the arrival of those very special rings.

Wrapping up the class history were sequences about the senior privilege of spending a fortune on pennants, gowns, cards, announcements, pictures and countless other senior necessities, a flashback scene to Sayonara, the senior prom and a grand finale in which the entire cast and class led by the graduating Varsity Cheerleaders sang the Alma Mater.

Prefacing the program itself were the traditional events of the Senior Processional, dedication of the Anchor and the transfer of the cap and gown.

Directing and producing duties for Our Class were assumed by Agnes Blandford, assisted by Jack Melamed, Barbara Brotzman and Joel Flax.

Above: "Of course, teachers are to be allowed to leave first in case of fire. But please, students, do not do as members of homeroom 307 did. They opened a window and threw the teacher out," announces Mr. Etheridge over the public address system. Mr. Etheridge, now coordinator of English for the school system, returned to N.N.H.S. to be with "his" in Our Class.

Right: "I must inform you that I am trained in Judo, you dirty rotten thug" says Aunt Louise (Lulie Roberts) to her attacker (Paula Keeter) in a scene from Nellie Was A Lady.

Theme Adapted From Wilder's "Our Town"

Above: "There were bells on the hill, but I never heard them ringing, till there was you," sings Sharon Dantzer.

Above center: Anita "the Mouse" Shapiro faints and is carried off as Mrs. Wright tells her eighth grade class to bring at least twenty five sheets of blank paper and two pencils for their very first examination.

Sayonara Chosen As Theme For Senior Prom

Long Hours, Hard Work Lavished On Decorations

"Oh! It's beau-ti-ful!" was the sighed response heard as formally tailored and gowned couples entered over the oriental bridge into Sayonara, scene of the 1968 Senior Prom. The culmination of five years of money-making projects and fund raising efforts, Sayonara represented the attainment of a goal that had received its first boost when the Fate of '68, the first dance given by the Class of 1968, was held.

Taking the Orient as its motif, Sayonara featured delicate oriental murals and a pagoda (which served as the bandstand) as well as a profusion of Japanese lanterns and windchimes. Centerpieces for the tables were miniature dragons and pagodas. Supplying the music for Sayonara were the Fabulous Echoes.

The climax of the evening was the presentation of members of the Hall of Fame and the crowning of Nathan Sosebee and Kathy Davis as King and Queen.

Serving as chairmen of Sayonara were Vicki Batts, Sharon Hargrave, Joyce Mabe, and Jerry Smith.

Below: Brenda Smith, escorted by Senior Joel Flax, pauses to marvel at the transformation which has occurred in the cafeteria as they cross over the bridge into Sayonara. Extreme Upper left: Evening gown, gloves, pocketbook, and corsage—these were the elements in another transformation, that of many Newport News' girls into elegantly attired young women worthy of an oriental paradise. Left: Hours and hours of meticulous and delicate work went into the creation of the background murals for Sayonara as Sharon Hargrave, Earl Begor, Frank Chilberti, Doug Dickinson, Janet Hirshman, and Perry Howard are well aware of! Extreme lower left: "Fold, cut, twist and fluff out; fold, cut, twist and fluff out" was the familiar pattern with these members of the Prom Committee. Though stuck with the tedious job of making paper flowers, a little gossiping helped pass the time.

Sosebee, Davis Reign As King And Queen

The Fabulous Echoes Supply Music For Sayonara

Top Center: The refreshment tables proved to be the favorite spot to retreat during the evening.

Bottom Center: Dancing to music of The Fabulous Echoes was exhilarating.

Extreme left: King Nathan Soesbee and Queen Kathy Davis, elected on a basis of service to the class, proudly reign over the Prom.

After Twelve Years Of Toil—Graduation,

Sunday, June 16, at four p.m., two hundred and twenty-four graduating Seniors marching to the resonant strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" entered Julie Conn Gymnasium to receive their hard earned diplomas. Heading the blue and white gowned procession were the faculty and honor graduates.

As in past years, the Commencement program was entirely student-led, with student speakers using as their theme, "Today is the end of yesterday and the beginning of tomorrow." Valedictorian and Salutatorian were Mary A. Haynes and Lois Hogge respectively. Selected by the class to be speakers were Floyd Stall and Larry Bridgers, with Jon Scott being chosen by the faculty as faculty speaker.

The invocation was given by Senior Class President Tony Koskinas and the benediction was given by Senior Class Secretary Gail Lucado. Rounding out Commencement was the singing of "The Impossible Dream" by the combined chorus and the playing of a medley of show tunes by the Concert Band. And last but definitely not least was the presentation of diplomas.

The Zenith Of Accomplishment Is Achieved

Ecstatic Faces Mirror Joy Of Graduation

Above: "I just can't believe it's all over and you're alumnae!" says Mrs. Collier to ecstatic Ellen Overton and Janice Payne. Above right: "Yippee, we made it!" laughs Wayne Lambert. "I can hardly wait to get out of this gown," he tells Debbie Lewis and Cathy Richardson. Left: A kiss on the cheek from Ralph Gore goes to Valedictorian Mary Alice Haynes for an excellent speech.

JUNE

Tony Koskinas, senior class president, exemplifies the student at the acme of his school experience, graduation, as he reflects upon the poignant experiences of his school days, now past, and faces toward the "tomorrows" of the future with faith and hope.

Motto Of The Senior Class Of 1968

"Today is the end of yesterday and the beginning of tomorrow."

Reflections On Advertisements

Restaurants... wearing apparel of all types... realtors... beauty shops... jewelers... automobile dealers... dry cleaners...

The list of goods and services offered by Anchor advertisers is virtually endless. The multitude of goods and services offered by these firms not only mirrors the wide selection and broad range of choice open to the buyer but reflects the growing realization by more and more people that it pays to shop with Anchor advertisers. As you patronize the firms whose advertisements appear within these pages, you can be assured of higher quality, lower prices and better service with a personal touch. These firms have helped to make this yearbook possible. In turn, let us support them.

GOOD SHIPS START HERE

Fine ships don't roll off a production line. They're built efficiently and well only by men whose skills and knowledge are broad. That's why Newport News begins at the beginning with its own selective Apprentice School.

High School graduates enter on the basis of academic record. But selectivity doesn't stop there. In classroom and shop, in the drafting room and out in the yard, each man's special abilities are watched and developed.

Some become skilled and versatile machinists. Others become expert electricians or precision tool makers. Many become supervisors. Some earn scholarships for advanced training at colleges and technical schools.

We think the School's a pretty inspiring place, because its end results are good men and good ships.

THE SPIRIT CLUB

Mirroring the fervor they encourage, screaming, cheering fans reflect the vibrancy of their school spirit.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

A service organization giving to the student love, guidance, understanding
A group seeking to secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual development.

The P.T.A. is the link between the home and the school. It is vitally interested and concerned about YOU, the student. How? Well

1. The P.T.A. Scholarship Fund assists a worthy N.N.H.S. graduating Senior who needs help for college.
2. The Ethel Gildersleeve Scholarship Fund aids with the needs of any student in the school. The Ethel Gildersleeve Bookshelf Fund purchases books for the school library yearly.
3. For graduation and school closing, Seniors and Faculty are each honored by a reception or a luncheon.
4. This full page ad was bought by the P.T.A. to support your school yearbook.
5. The T. O. Keesee Citizenship Award is given by the P.T.A. to a deserving Senior boy in honor of Mr. Keesee, our former Assistant Principal.

The P.T.A. wants the best education for every student . . . Support your P.T.A.

A high-contrast black and white photograph showing a person walking away from the camera on a light-colored, paved path. The path is bordered by dark, textured areas on either side. A long, dark shadow of the person is cast onto the path ahead of them. The path is composed of large, rectangular paving stones.

Reflections On Newport News

The images in this book are but the reflections of the dreams and realities, efforts and accomplishments of the entire student body and faculty of Newport News High School—the enthusiasm and zeal in the classroom, the fervor and school spirit of the playing field and the variety and diversity of school life.

The preceding pages were but an attempt to capture the fleeting yet permanent, ephemeral yet enduring reflection of Newport News High School 1967-68.
